Explanation of Local Expenditures: Summary - The bill's provisions are expected to have minimal workload impact on community corrections programs, community correction agencies, and county auditors.

Additional Information -

Community Corrections Programs: The bill could increase the workload of local community correction programs to the extent that the fund is established. Before March 1 of each year, the community corrections agency must submit a report to the county fiscal body detailing the fund's usage and balance for the previous calendar year. A copy of the report must also be provided to the community corrections advisory board.

Community Corrections Trust Fund: The bill establishes the Community Corrections Trust Fund for community corrections programs. The county auditor is responsible for administering the fund and must deposit all proceeds from commissary sales made within the county's community corrections program into the fund. Money remaining in the fund at the end of the calendar year does not revert to the county general fund. The fund is also subject to audit by the State Board of Accounts.

Money in the fund consists of proceeds from commissary sales, amounts appropriated to the fund, and any grants or gifts received by the county that are designated for commissary or community corrections programming. Fund money may be used only for commissary inventory and operations, rehabilitation and educational programming, facility improvements, and staff training and equipment.
