DIGEST: This bill (1) removes the “household domestic service” exemption from the Occupational Safety and Health Act definition of employment (thereby applying all of its requirements and obligations on domestic service employers); (2) requires the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) to convene an advisory committee to evaluate the need to develop industry-specific regulations related to household domestic service; and (3) to authorizes DIR’s Division of Occupational Safety and Health (Cal/OSHA) to enforce occupational safety and health laws to protect domestic service employees at private residential dwellings.

ANALYSIS:

Existing law:

- 1) Assures, under the California Occupational Safety and Health Act, safe and healthful working conditions for all California workers by authorizing the enforcement of effective standards, assisting and encouraging employers to maintain safe and healthful working conditions, and by providing for research, information, education, training, and enforcement in the field of occupational safety and health. (Labor Code §6300)

- 2) Establishes the Division of Occupational Safety and Health (known as Cal/OSHA) within the DIR to, among other things, propose, administer, and enforce occupational safety and health standards. (Labor Code §6300 et seq.)
- 3) Requires employers to establish, implement and maintain an effective Injury and Illness Prevention Program that is written, except as specified, and shall include, among other things, the following elements (Labor Code §6401.7):
 - a) A system for identifying and evaluating workplace hazards, including scheduled periodic inspections to identify unsafe conditions and work practices.
 - b) The employer's methods and procedures for correcting unsafe or unhealthy conditions and work practices in a timely manner.
 - c) An occupational health and safety training program designed to instruct employees in general safe and healthy work practices and to provide specific instruction with respect to hazards specific to each employee's job assignment.
 - d) The employer's system for communicating with employees on occupational health and safety matters, including provisions designed to encourage employees to inform the employer of hazards at the worksite without fear of reprisal.
- 4) Requires every employer to file a complete report with Cal/OSHA of every occupational injury or occupational illness to each employee which results in lost time beyond the date of the injury or illness, or which requires medical treatment beyond first aid. A report must be filed within five days after the employer obtains knowledge of the injury or illness. In addition to this report, in every case involving a serious injury or illness, or death, the employer is required to make an immediate report to Cal/OSHA by telephone or email. (Labor Code §6409.1)
- 5) Requires Cal/OSHA, if the Division learns or has reason to believe that an employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of an employee, it may, on its own motion, or upon complaint, summarily investigate the employment or place of employment, with or without notice or

- hearings. Certain timeframes exist if a complaint is deemed to allege a serious violation. (Labor Code §6309)
- 6) Requires Cal/OSHA to annually compile data pertaining to complaints received and citations issued and post it on its website. [Labor Code §6309(d)]
 - 7) Defines, for purposes of OSHA, “employment” to include the carrying on of any trade, enterprise, project, industry, business, occupation, or work, including all excavation, demolition, and construction work, or any process or operation in any way related thereto, in which any person is engaged or permitted to work for hire, except household domestic service. (Labor Code §6303)
 - 8) Defines “domestic work” as services related to the care of persons in private households or maintenance of private households or their premises. Domestic work occupations include childcare providers, caregivers of people with disabilities, sick, convalescing, or elderly persons, house cleaners, housekeepers, maids and other household occupations. (Labor Code §1451)
 - 9) Establishes within DIR, the Division of Fair Labor Standards Enforcement (DLSE) lead by the Labor Commissioner, tasked with administering and enforcing labor code provisions concerning wages, hours and working conditions. (Labor Code §56)
 - 10) Regulates, under the Domestic Worker Bill of Rights, the hours of work of certain domestic work employees and provides an overtime compensation rate for those employees. Specifically, provides that a domestic work employee who is a personal attendant shall not be employed more than nine hours in any workday or more than 45 hours in any workweek unless the employee receives one and one-half times the employee's regular rate of pay for all hours worked over nine in a day and 45 in a workweek. (Labor Code §1450-1454)

This bill:

- 1) Removes the “household domestic service” exemption from the Occupational Safety and Health Act definition of employment, thereby applying all of its requirements and obligations on domestic service employers.
- 2) Requires the Chief of the Cal/OSHA, or a representative of the chief, to convene an advisory committee to evaluate whether there is a need to develop industry-specific regulations related to household domestic service. The advisory committee shall include an equal number of representatives of household domestic service employees and employers.

- 3) Specifies, for purposes of Cal/OSHA investigations of occupational safety and health, that in the case where the place of employment is a residential dwelling and the employee is a domestic service employee, the chief of the division or their authorized representative shall initiate telephone contact with the employer as soon as possible, but not later than three working days after receipt of a complaint charging a serious violation, and not later than 14 calendar days after receipt of a complaint charging a nonserious violation.
- 4) Specifies that when telephone contact is successfully made, the chief of Cal/OSHA or their authorized representative shall do all of the following:
 - a) Notify the employer of the existence of any alleged unsafe or unhealthful conditions.
 - b) Describe the alleged hazard and any specific regulatory standard alleged to have been violated.
 - c) Inform the employer that they are required, pursuant to Labor Code Section 6401.7, to investigate and abate any hazard discovered during the investigation.
 - d) Inform the employer by letter sent by facsimile or email, or by certified mail if the employer cannot receive facsimile or email, of each alleged hazard and each specific standard alleged to have been violated.
 - e) Inform the employer that if the Division determines that the employer's response is unsatisfactory, the Division shall seek permission from the employer to enter the residential dwelling to investigate the matter, and, if permission is denied, may secure a court order to conduct an onsite inspection of the residential dwelling.
 - f) Provide the complainant with copies of the regulation alleged to have been violated, the Division's letter to the employer, and all subsequent correspondence concerning the investigation of any alleged hazards.
- 5) Provides that a domestic worker employer subject to investigation shall do both of the following:
 - a) Provide to the division, within 14 days of the employer's receipt of the Division's letter, a letter describing the results of the employer's investigation of the alleged hazard and a description of all actions taken, in the process of being taken, or planned to be taken, by the employer to abate the alleged hazard, including any applicable measurements or monitoring results, invoices for equipment purchased, and photographs or video that document correction of the alleged hazard.

- b) Provide a copy of the Division's letter to the employee, and all subsequent correspondence from and to the employer, to the affected employee, or prominently post the letter and correspondence in the method prescribed by subdivision (a) of Section 6318.

Background

DLSE Domestic Work Industry Outreach and Education Program. As part of the 2019 Budget (SB 83, Committee on Budget and Fiscal Review, Chapter 24, Section 33), Section 1455 was added to the Labor Code requiring the Division of Labor Standards Enforcement to establish and maintain an outreach and education program, in consultation with community based organizations. The purpose of the program is to promote awareness of, and compliance with, labor protections that affect the domestic work industry and to promote fair and dignified labor standards in this industry. Please see the policy committee analysis for more background information.

Comments

Need for this bill? According to the author, “In the private home workplace, occupational risks and hazards for domestic workers include physical and ergonomic demands and exposure to infectious diseases and household cleaning chemicals. Domestic workers are also at risk of suffering from psychological stress, and are especially vulnerable to workplace violations. They are at risk of physical, emotional and sexual abuse by employers or clients, and those risks are heightened because they work alone, in informal workplace environments, without psychological support or physical assistance.

“The current COVID-19 health pandemic and recent California wildfires have magnified the vulnerability and dangers that domestic workers and day laborers face on a daily basis because they are excluded from California’s Occupational Health and Safety protections. The growing frequency and intensity of wildfires and other natural disasters requires that legislators take immediate legislative action to protect the health and safety of these workers.”

Related/Prior Legislation

AB 2658 (Burke, 2020) makes it a crime for a person, after receiving notice to evacuate or leave, to willfully and knowingly direct an employee to remain in, or enter, an area closed under prescribed provisions of law due to a menace to the public health or safety. The bill defines “employee” for this purpose to include a person receiving employment for household domestic service. The bill is pending referral in Senate Rules Committee.

SB 1015 (Leyva, Chapter 315, Statutes of 2016) deleted the January 1, 2017 repeal date on the provisions under the Domestic Worker Bill of Rights, thereby making the requirement permanent.

AB 241 (Ammiano, Chapter 374, Statutes of 2013) enacted the “Domestic Worker Bill of Rights” to provide overtime compensation to domestic work employees who are personal attendants, but included a 1/1/17 sunset date.

AB 889 (Ammiano, 2012) would have required, no later than January 1, 2014, the DIR to adopt regulations governing the working conditions of domestic work employees, as defined. The bill was vetoed by the Governor Brown.

FISCAL EFFECT: Appropriation: No Fiscal Com.: Yes Local: No

According to the Senate Appropriations Committee, the DIR indicates that it would incur annual costs in the millions of dollars to implement the provisions of this bill (Labor Enforcement and Compliance Fund). Among other things, they note that census data indicates that there are currently 11.5 million households in the state. Any household may hire a domestic worker at any given time and thus be subject to the enforcement authority of Cal/OSHA.

ARGUMENTS IN SUPPORT: According to proponents, “despite the fact that domestic workers are often put in hazardous and unsafe working conditions in order to care for people’s homes and loved ones, they are unjustly and unjustifiably excluded from California’s Occupational Health and Safety protections. Domestic workers are especially vulnerable because they work long hours for low wages, without access to healthcare and paid sick days. Many are seniors themselves and have their own health challenges.

“During the recent wildfires, domestic workers and day laborers were asked to stay behind to help fight fires, guard homes or pets, and clean up toxic ashes. Workers were also put at risk when their employers failed to tell them not to come in to work when the homes they work in were under mandatory evacuation orders. Currently, there is no recourse for these workers who put themselves in harm’s way or otherwise risk losing their job if they raise concerns about health and safety hazards. And appallingly, there is no legal obligation on the employer’s part to even take the worker’s health and safety into account. This is plainly wrong.”
