SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE: Senate Rule 28.8

SUBJECT: Civil actions: parties and postponements

DIGEST: This bill extends, to January 1, 2026, the sunset on the statutory authorization for specified remote appearances in specified civil court proceedings, and imposes reporting requirements on the superior courts and the Judicial Council of California to provide the Legislature with certain information relating to remote proceedings in civil cases.

Senate Floor Amendments of 5/17/22 extend the sunset on remote proceedings in civil cases instead of eliminating the sunset; and add the annual reporting requirements for superior courts and the Judicial Council relating to problems experienced during, and services or products paid for to facilitate, remote proceedings. These amendments were negotiated with certain bill opponents to address their concerns with the prior version of this bill.

ANALYSIS:

Existing law:

- 1) Provides that a party who has provided the requisite notice may appear telephonically in the following civil proceedings:

- a) A case management conference, provided that the party has made a good faith effort to meet and confer before the conference and has timely filed and served a case management statement.
 - b) A trial setting conference.
 - c) A hearing on law and motion, except motions in limine.
 - d) A hearing on a discovery motion.
 - e) A conference to review the status of an arbitration or mediation.
 - f) A hearing to review the dismissal of an action.
 - g) Any other hearing, conference, or proceeding if the court determines that a telephone appearance is appropriate. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.5(b), (e).)
- 2) Provides that, notwithstanding any party's notice of intention to appear telephonically at one of the above proceedings, the court may require a party to appear in person at a hearing, conference, or proceeding if the court determines on a hearing-by-hearing basis that a personal appearance would materially assist in the determination of the proceedings or in the effective management of the particular case. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.5(c).)
- 3) Authorizes parties to civil cases, including self-represented parties and nonparties subject to discovery requests, to appear remotely at a proceeding, and for the court to conduct the proceeding remotely, when the party has provided notice to the court and all other parties of the intent to appear remotely, subject to the limitations in 4)-7). (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(a).)
- a) A court is prohibited from requiring a party to appear remotely. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(f), (g).)
 - b) A court permitting remote appearances must ensure that technology in the courtroom enables all parties, whether appearing remotely or in person, to fully participate in the conference, hearing, or proceeding. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(f).)
 - c) Separate procedures are set forth for remote appearances in juvenile dependency proceedings, at 9).
- 4) Authorizes a court to require an in-person appearance by a party or witness in a civil proceeding if any of the following conditions is present:
- a) The court does not have adequate technology to conduct the proceeding remotely.
 - b) Although the court has adequate technology, the quality of the technology or the audibility at the proceeding prevents the effective management or resolution of the proceeding.
 - c) The court determines, on the facts of the specific proceeding, that an in-person appearance would materially assist in the determination of the proceeding or in the effective management or resolution of the particular case. With respect to expert witnesses, however, an expert witness must be permitted to appear remotely absent good cause to compel in-person testimony.

- d) The quality of the technology or audibility of the proceeding inhibits the court reporter's ability to accurately prepare a transcript of the proceeding.
 - e) The quality of the technology or audibility of the proceeding prevents an attorney from being able to provide effective representation to their client.
 - f) The quality of the technology or audibility of the proceeding inhibits a court interpreter's ability to provide language access to a court user or authorized individual. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(b).)
- 5) Authorizes a court, on its own motion or by motion of any party, to conduct a trial or evidentiary hearing, in whole or in part, through the use of remote technology, subject to the limitations of 4) above, unless an opposing party shows why a remote appearance or testimony should not be allowed.
- a) Except where law expressly provides otherwise, if the court conducts a trial in whole or in part through remote means, the official reporter or official reporter pro tempore must be physically present in the courtroom.
 - b) Upon request, a court interpreter must be present in the courtroom. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(d).)
- 6) Requires a court, prior to conducting remote proceedings, to have a process for a party, witness, official reporter or reporter pro tempore, court interpreter, or other court personnel to alert the judicial officer of technology or audibility issues that arise during the proceeding, and to require that a remote appearance by a party or witness have the necessary privacy and security appropriate for the proceeding. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(e)(1)-(2).)
- 7) Requires a court to inform all parties, and particularly self-represented parties, about the potential technological or audibility issues that may arise when using remote technology, and which may require a delay or halt to the proceeding; and to make information available to self-represented parties regarding the options for appearing in person and through remote technological means. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(e)(3).)
- 8) Provides that, subject to the technological and qualitative limitations in 4), the statute does prohibit attorneys for represented parties from stipulating to the use of remote appearances.
- 9) Authorizes a juvenile dependency proceeding to be conducted in whole or in part as follows:

- a) Any person authorized to be present at the proceeding may request to appear remotely.
 - b) Any party to the proceeding may request that the court compel the physical presence of a witness or party.
 - c) A witness may appear remotely only with the consent of all parties and if the witness has access to the appropriate technology.
 - d) A court may not require a party to appear through the use of remote technology.
 - e) The confidentiality requirements that apply to an in-person juvenile dependency proceeding also apply in a juvenile dependency proceeding conducted through the use of remote technology. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(h).)
- 10) Requires the Judicial Council to adopt rules for the policies and procedures set forth above, including for deadlines by which a party must notify the court and other parties of its intent to appear remotely, and standards for a judicial officer to apply in determining whether a remote appearance is appropriate. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(k).)
- 11) Provides that the remote technology provisions in 3)-10) will sunset on July 1, 2023. (Code Civ. Proc. § 367.75(l).)

This bill:

- 1) Adds to the existing remote civil proceedings statute a requirement that each superior court shall report to Judicial Council on or before October 1, 2023, and annually thereafter, and the Judicial Council shall report to the Legislature on or before December 31, 2023, and annually thereafter, to assess the impact of technology issues or problems affecting remote civil proceedings and all purchases and leases of technology or equipment to facilitate civil remote conferences, hearings, or proceedings, specifying all of the following for each annual reporting period:
- a) The number of civil proceedings conducted with the use of remote technology.
 - b) Any superior court in which technology issues or problems occurred.
 - c) The superior courts in which remote technology was used.
 - d) The types of civil trial court conferences, hearings, or proceedings in which remote technology was used.
 - e) The cost of purchasing, leasing, or upgrading remote technology.
 - f) The type of technology and equipment purchased or leased.

- 2) Extends the sunset on the remote technology provisions, including the reporting requirement in 1), to January 1, 2026.

Comments

To prevent civil cases from grinding to a complete halt during the COVID-19 pandemic, many courts pivoted to remote proceedings, which allowed them to process cases while still complying with state and local health and safety orders. This pivot was first authorized by the Judicial Council’s Emergency Rule 3, adopted on April 6, 2020.¹ Then, in 2021, the Legislature enacted SB 241 (Umberg, Chapter 214, Statutes of 2021), which authorized remote proceedings in civil and juvenile dependency proceedings, subject to certain technological and procedural requirements.² The bill is scheduled to sunset on July 1, 2023.

As amended on May 17, 2022, this bill extends the sunset on the remote civil proceeding statute until January 1, 2026. This bill also adds reporting requirements for the superior courts and the Judicial Council to provide the Legislature with certain information relating to the volume of remote proceedings being conducted, the prevalence of technological uses, and the technology or equipment purchased or leased to facilitate the remote appearances. These provisions were negotiated with certain opposition groups—primarily labor groups—to address their concern that the Legislature had insufficient data to remove the sunset on the remote civil statute at this time. SEIU California has removed its opposition in light of the amendments, and it is the understanding of Committee staff that other labor groups may remove their opposition going forward.

In addition to the labor groups’ opposition, which may be removed in light of the May 17, 2022 amendments, certain other groups oppose the bill because it does not clarify the permissible scope of remote civil proceedings in juvenile justice proceedings. When the Judicial Council adopted a rule of court to implement SB 241, the rule included in its scope juvenile justice proceedings under Welfare and Institutions Code Sections 601 and 602.³ These proceedings are technically civil, but are also quasi-criminal in nature because they so often involve “the possibility of a substantial loss of freedom.”⁴ Bill opponents Pacific Juvenile Defender Center and the California Public Defenders Association argue that the provisions of SB 241—designed for general civil cases—are improper for juvenile justice cases, and likely even violate the constitutional rights of those alleged to be juvenile defendants. The author of this bill is working with these opponents on devising the appropriate language for inclusion in this bill.

NOTE: As noted above, SEIU California has withdrawn its opposition to this bill in light of the May 17, 2022 amendments; as of the deadline for this analysis, Senate Judiciary Committee staff had not received any additional withdrawals of opposition, but they may be forthcoming.

ARGUMENTS IN SUPPORT: According to the Judicial Council of California, writing in support:

The remote access to the courts originally authorized by temporary emergency rules during the pandemic demonstrated its value as the pandemic revealed the need for a variety of options for accessing courts, both in-person and remotely. In order to avoid further delays or outright denials of access to justice, remote access must become a basic service rather than a temporary way to address current statutory restrictions on access to the courts. Investment in those services as well as the flexibility to continue expanding the remote access under the authority of SB 241 continues to provide increased access to the courts by the public and reduces disruption to the public and prepares courts for future crises—whether caused by pandemics, wildfires, natural disasters, bad weather or other unexpected events. Courts must be allowed to continue to utilize and develop the tools rolled out during the pandemic and maximize the ability to provide a full menu of equal, safe, and reliable access to justice and court services.

ARGUMENTS IN OPPOSITION: According to the Pacific Juvenile Defender Center, writing in opposition:

The Pacific Juvenile Defender Center (PJDC) writes in opposition to SB 848...unless amended to clarify that Code of Civil Procedure section 367.75 does not apply to proceedings under Welfare & Institutions Code section 601 and 602, commonly referred to as juvenile delinquency or juvenile justice proceedings. Such clarification is needed because the Judicial Council recently adopted Rule of Court 3.672 that, in our view—as well of the view of many other youth-serving organizations and the Juvenile Court Judges of California—erroneously swept Welfare & Institutions Code section 601 and 602 proceedings within the ambit of Code of Civil Procedure section 367.75...

A discussion of these critically important constitutional and statutory rights of children accused of crimes was not part of the legislative discussion resulting in the enactment of Code of Civil Procedure section 367.76, which addresses only civil proceedings. The United States and California Constitutions, as well as Welfare and Institutions Code section 679 only permit remote proceedings at the express request of the minor.

Accordingly, we must oppose SB 848 unless and until it is amended to clarify that Code of Civil Procedure section 367.75 does not apply to proceedings under Welfare and Institutions Code sections 601 and 602.
