Background

Mental illness is prevalent among the county jail population. A recent article noted:

While the jail population has dropped markedly over the last decade, the number of inmates with mental health needs has grown, from around 11,000 in the year preceding realignment to 25,000 before the pandemic. The BSCC defines inmates with mental health needs as those who have been identified as having a psychological disorder and who are actively in need of and receiving mental health services.

Following the pandemic-era drop in the overall jail population, the number of inmates with mental health needs also declined and is now around 19,000—still much higher than pre-realignment levels. Additionally, the percentage of inmates with mental health needs has continued to climb, from around 20% in January 2010 to a staggering 53% in June 2023. (Public Policy Institute of California (PPIC), County jails house fewer inmates, but over half face mental health issues (Oct. 23, 2023) available at <<https://www.ppic.org/blog/county-jails-house-fewer-inmates-but-over-half-face-mental-health-issues/> .)

In recent years, there have been various efforts to improve continuity of health care for those re-entering society following incarceration. In 2023, California became the first state in the nation to receive federal approval to offer a targeted set of Medicaid services to youth and eligible adults in state prisons, county jails, and youth correctional facilities for up to 90 days prior to release. The goal of establishing pre-release Medi-Cal enrollment is to ensure individuals have continuity of coverage and access to services upon their release in order to improve health outcomes and facilitate successful re-entry.

Multidisciplinary Personnel Teams. California first authorized multidisciplinary personnel teams (MDTs) in the 1980s. MDTs allow for a coordinated interagency response to elder abuse, child abuse, domestic violence, human trafficking, and homelessness. MDTs are formed and operated at the county level and bring together the expertise of a wide range of individuals trained in the prevention, identification, and treatment of elder abuse, child abuse, domestic violence, or human trafficking, and who are qualified to provide related services. In the case of homelessness, the MDT focuses on assessment and linkage to services. MDTs allow team members to share confidential information with each other for the purposes of meeting the specific goals of the MDT as outlined in statute. Statutes authorizing the creation of the various MDTs include provisions related to privacy and confidentiality.

MDTs are seen as an effective tool for conducting timely and objective investigations and facilitate coordination among the different agencies and entities participating on the MDT. This bill is modeled after existing statutes authorizing MDTs. Specifically, this bill authorizes a county to establish a mental health multidisciplinary personnel team with the goal of facilitating the expedited identification, assessment, and linkage of justice-involved persons diagnosed with a mental illness to supportive services within that county while incarcerated and upon release from county jail. This bill also allows provider agencies and team members to share confidential information for the purpose of coordinating supportive services. Additionally, this bill includes a number of provisions designed to maintain the confidentiality of records, prevent improper disclosure of records, and generally provide guardrails to protect the privacy rights of individuals receiving services.
