DIGEST: This bill eliminates the requirement that certain California Department of Insurance (CDI) license applicants complete 20 hours of pre-licensing coursework, and allows CDI to charge fees for these applicants to complete the remaining 12-hour ethics course certification requirement.

ANALYSIS:

Existing law:

- 1) Requires all applicants for license as a property broker-agent, casualty broker-agent, limited lines automobile insurance agent, personal lines broker-agent, life agent, or accident and health or sickness agent to meet a minimum of 20 hours of pre-licensing study, among other requirements.
- 2) Requires the applicants mentioned above to have 12 hours of ethics instruction in addition to the 20 hours of pre-licensing education required to qualify for the specified licenses.

- 3) States that these applicants must pay a fee of 75 dollars for filing an application for certification of the pre-licensing education course.
- 4) States that these applicants must pay a fee of 37 dollars for filing an application to renew certification of a pre-licensing education course.

This bill:

- 1) Removes the requirement that applicants for property broker-agent, casualty broker-agent, limited lines automobile insurance agent, personal lines broker-agent, life agent, and accident and health or sickness agent licenses, complete 20 hours of pre-licensing education coursework.
- 2) States the Insurance Commissioner requires a fee of 75 dollars for applications for certification, or renewal of certification as a 12-hour ethics course or continuing education provider.
- 3) States the Insurance Commissioner requires a fee of 75 dollars for applications for certification of a 12-hour ethics course.
- 4) States the Insurance Commissioner requires a fee of 37 dollars for applications to renew certification of a 12-hour ethics course.

ARGUMENTS IN SUPPORT:

According to the National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors-California (NAIFA-CA) and the Association of California Life and Health Insurance Companies (ACLHIC), sponsors of this bill:

“California’s current pre-licensing education requirements for insurance producers create unnecessary barriers to entry, particularly for individuals from economically disadvantaged backgrounds. The rigid 20-hour line-specific instruction mandate places an undue burden on aspiring professionals with limited financial resources and time constraints, restricting opportunities for workforce participation and economic mobility.

Research from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) indicates that mandated pre-licensing hours do not correlate with exam passage rates. Additionally, a review of leading curriculum materials suggests that approximately 35% of the required content is redundant, increasing costs and time commitments without enhancing competency. These inefficiencies hinder new professionals from entering the industry while offering no measurable consumer protection benefits.

AB 943 proposes a more efficient and effective pre-licensing framework by reducing time-based instruction requirements to 12 hours while maintaining rigorous professional and ethical standards through comprehensive testing.”

ARGUMENTS IN OPPOSITION:

According to the Consumer Federation of California (CFC):

“CFC is currently unaware of the rationale for the reduction of pre-licensing education requirements, especially given the nature of California's current insurance marketplace. If anything, pre-licensing education requirements for newly applying insurance agents in various areas ought to be increased, not eliminated.

Since agents still would have to pass relevant licensing exams it would seem that eliminating 20 hours of pre-licensing education would have a detrimental impact on new agent exam passage rates. All that would be left is 12 hours on ethics and the Insurance Code (which includes 1 hour on insurance fraud). That seems insufficient to CFC.”
